

Through the window I can see ...

When you are at home, you sometimes have visitors who come to your home. Recently, there won't have been visitors to your home. Can you think of visitors you might see if you looked out of the window? The postman comes to my house nearly every day. Draw one visitor in each of the four windowpanes. You could draw a friend or relation who you hope will visit. Write their name or who they are in the windowpane.

