

Day 2

WALT: explain the importance of a title to a story

Before listening to the story "The missing crown" draw a front cover to show what you think the story may be about. Remember to include who you think the character will be and where the story may be set.

Once you have done that read the text with a grown up. Have a go at reading/ sounding out the text in blue using your phonics knowledge.

The Missing Crown

P1 The king woke up early. It was a very exciting day. It was his birthday and there was going to be a special feast held in the Great Hall. He climbed out of bed and stretched up tall. It was time to get ready for his party.

The king put on his cloak to look smart.

P2 To complete his outfit, the king proudly strolled over to his wardrobe to find his crown. When he looked inside, his crown was missing. "Someone has stolen my crown." said the king.

The king must look for his missing crown.

P3 He asked the cook if she had seen it.
“No!” said the cook.
He asked the queen if she had seen it.
“No!” said the queen.
He asked the jester if he had seen it.
“No!” said the jester.
He asked the dog if he had seen it.
“Woof!” said the dog.
The king smiled at the dog. He knew what that bark meant.

The dog ran to his bed.

P4 The king followed. Once they reached the dog's bed, the king dug deep under the blankets and pulled out the crown.
He smiled and took out his handkerchief. With a quick wipe, he had the jewels sparkling again. He placed the crown upon his head and looked in the mirror. Now he was ready for his party.

The king never let the dog
near his crown again.
